

Welcome to CoreOptics

Field Application Engineer Japan

CoreOptics is looking for a Field Application Engineer based in Silicon Valley, California to lead our technical customers engagements in the ASIA (Japan), in close cooperation with our Marketing and Sales teams. The position reports to the Application Engineer Manager.

Work Description

- to be the lead technical interface towards customers and our representatives
- to validate product requirements with customers for their target applications
- to serve design wins and to help to define CoreOptics' product roadmap
- to solicit and analyze customers' technical requirements
- to support response to the technical sections of customer RFI/RFPs
- to define and provide product evaluation environment (HW, SW, documentation) for product qualification by customers
- to create product related documentations (Flyers, datasheets, specifications, white papers, publications) in cooperation with marketing
- to manage RMA process
- to champion the requirements of the Asian customers into R&D

Qualifications

- Engineering or Master degree in Electrical Engineering
- In-depth knowledge and experience in high speed WDM transmission components
- Experience in optical system and subsystem applications
- Experience in ITU and Telecordia standards is required
- Willingness to travel regularly to Japan
- Japanese would be strong assets
- Excellent communication skills

Contact

CoreOptics GmbH
Anke Schütze / Human Resources
Nordostpark 12-14
90411 Nuremberg / Germany

Infoline: +49 (911) 941 51 6
Email: careers@coreoptics.com
Web: www.coreoptics.com

